This is the first Special Issue of the Scandinavian Journal of Information Systems. The guest editors are Susanne Bødker and Olav Bertelsen. They present a collection of papers focusing on Activity Theory. We are planning another special issue on Work Practice and Technology. We encourage you to suggest other ideas for future SJIS special issues. New ideas for a special issue will be discussed by the SJIS editors. If an idea is approved, then one of the SJIS editors will be appointed as a coordinator, while the selection of papers and the practical review process will be handled by the guest editor(s). With this little practical note aside, I hereby hand the floor over to Susanne Bødker and Olav Bertelsen.

On behalf on the Editorial Collective,

Jesper Simonsen, coordinating editor
